Searching for Justice
Malachi 2:17-3:5

Injustice is a common theme throughout humanity. It is a universal cry. While what someone perceives as injustice may vary depending on cultural norms, every culture has the sense of injustice. How should we respond to injustice?

Injustice is Real

If God is a God of justice—why is there injustice?

What is our response:

- * Are we _____
- * Are we _____
- * Are we _____

God's Answer

We may not like it...

God sent a _____
 God sent _____
 God's answer is — _____

Ending Injustice

Our response is crucial...

We need to be changed:

- * We need the _____
- * We need the _____

A Closing Thought

There is coming a day of justice...

The coming day of judgment is not a day of celebration for those who have rejected Jesus Christ...in that day, no one will ask, _____?

The solution to injustice is to allow ourselves to be changed. We are the major source of injustice in this world. As we seek our own selfish interests above those of others we become instruments of injustice. The solution is to draw near to Jesus Christ and allow His Spirit to change us.

We always seem to ourselves just, and upright, and wise, and holy, until we are convinced, by clear evidence, of our injustice, vileness, folly, and impurity.
