Will You Take a Risk?

Matthew 9:18-26

One thing is very clear in studying Scripture. Once a person enters into a relationship with Jesus, we are not intended to remain the same person we were. The intent of our relationship with Jesus is change. We are supposed to become more like Him and less like ourselves. If this isn't happening, something is very wrong. Change, however, takes a willingness to take a risk. Are you?

Living Without Risk

Life without risk is impossible— _____

Risk and Desire

More I desire them more I risk...

Jairus had a desired outcome— _____

Risk and Faith

Taking a risk is an act of faith...

Conclusion

Take a risk...

We must desire change...
We must act in courage— _____

People who study risk aversion (the desire to avoid risk) have concluded there are four major reasons people use to justify not taking a risk.

First, most people tend to over estimate the probability of something going wrong.

Second, we tend to exaggerate the consequences that would happen if something does go wrong.

Third, we tend to under estimate our ability to cope with the consequences when something does go wrong.

Fourth, and perhaps the most damaging, we tend to discount the cost of inaction.

What is the cost of inaction when it comes to spiritual growth? Read Matthew 16:25; by not growing spiritually you are trying to save your life—keep it the same as it was before you gave your life to Jesus. Jesus said the cost for this was that we would lose our life—as it is meant to be.

Expect great things from God; attempt great things for God.
