Spiritual Revolution

Acts 2:1-13

There is a Jewish holiday that is also very special for those who are not Jewish; at least, it ought to be very special. It is known as Pentecost. On the first Pentecost after the ascension of Jesus a promise was kept to the disciples. It was the promise of a gift, and that gift was revolutionary!

The Gift

A supernatural gift...

The Holy Spirit before Pentecost—

Revolutionary:

- * _____
- * _____
- * _____

Using the Gift

An unused gift is useless...

The gift is meant to be used:

- * _____
- * _____
- * _____

Result of the Gift

A division...

Two possible outcomes:

- * _____
- * _____

Conclusion

All about making a choice...

- * Follow God—

- * Reject God—

If there is anything lacking in our ‘witness’ as disciples of Jesus it is probably related to our willingness to allow the Holy Spirit to make His presence known through our lives. What do I mean by that?

Our testimony, apart from the Holy Spirit’s presence in our lives, is nothing more than a story. While we may believe it, apart from the Holy Spirit and His work through our life to show the mighty works of God, it is still just a story.

Our friends, neighbors, co-workers and family all need more than a story. They need Jesus. Yet when we try to share our testimony while denying the Holy Spirit the ability to work through our lives all we are sharing is a story.

So, let’s stop sharing a story and let’s start letting the Holy Spirit do something revolutionary in our lives.
